Terms and conditions

Definitions

Words and expressions used in these terms and conditions are defined as follows:

- Member: the member who is using EEIP free services and/or is connected to EEIP via one of EEIP channels

1. General

These general terms and conditions govern the usage of the EEIP services on its website to the exclusion of all other conditions.

The member acknowledges that they are familiar with them and have accepted them unconditionally prior to placing the order, therefore confirmation of the order automatically implies that the member agrees to the present terms and conditions of sale that have the force of law between the parties.

Any departure from these general terms and conditions requires validation by written agreement from EEIP to that effect.

EEIP reserve the right to modify these terms and conditions at any time. The new terms and conditions will apply to any new offer or order, notwithstanding any prior relations entertained between EEIP and the member.

Unless there is proof to the contrary, the data registered on its website constitute proof of all actions between EEIP and the member.

2. Personal data & Archiving

Member information and data might be required for the purposes of subscribing to free EEIP services.

Any information transmitted by a member may be kept and used by EEIP for six (6) months, even if the member does not finalize confirmation of the order.

EEIP archives subscriptions on a reliable and durable medium that constitutes a faithful copy. The computerized registers held by EEIP will be considered by the parties as proof of the communications, orders, and transactions conducted between the parties.

3. Intellectual property

All the elements on the EEIP portal are protected by copyright and intellectual property law and this protection extends all over the world.

No individual or corporate body is authorized to reproduce, exploit, retransmit, or use any software, visual or sound elements from the site for any purpose whatsoever, even partially. The insertion of any simple or hypertext link is strictly forbidden without the express written agreement of EEIP.

In order to fulfill the order, the member transfers a non-exclusive license to EEIP for the intellectual property rights they hold on their elements such as their brand and logo, so that EEIP can set, reproduce, communicate, modify, adapt these elements by all technical means and on all media.

Accordingly the member declares that they hold all the rights required and guarantees to protect EEIP from any action of any nature regarding these intellectual property rights.

4. Liability

EEIP is not bound by any obligation of diligence in the offering of online services. It may not be held liable for any damage arising from the use of the Internet network such as loss of data, intrusion, virus, breakdown of service, or other problems outside its control.

EEIP will not be held liable in the event of non-fulfillment of the contract through force majeure, interruption, total or partial strike of the communications media, fire or flooding.

5. Applicable law

In the event of any dispute, the courts of the head office of EEIP will be the only courts competent in the matter
